

Amen Tegegne

Aki Kurose Middle School | 6th Grade

Untitled

Being a kid doesn't last for long
The times where it wasn't your fault
Well, it is now.
Getting out of trouble is a big wow right now.
It hurts to not be a little kid anymore,
Memories are like a faint past but still
Waiting for more!
Many great adventures are coming your way!
When people say to grow up,
Don't. It's okay.
Being a little kid is like being a celebrity,
No kid understands that being a little
Kid is like being worth a million.

This broadside was created in celebration of Seattle Arts & Lectures' 2024-25 Writers in the Schools Year End Reading.
Ankober Yewondwossen was the supporting WITS writer in residence.