The World I Want to Live In

A world where failure and success aren't feared.

Where truth stays standing.

A world where love overpowers hate every time.

Where anyone can hold onto hope in their hands.

Where someday, we can all find safety.

Where anyone can go after their dreams and ambitions.

A world where people can be supported and loved and challenged.

Where we can live alone and together.

A world where we can suffer but still come back.

Where pain exists but healing comes after.

A world where we find the strength buried deep inside us.
